Dear SSAWW Members,

The SSAWW Conference Planning Committee is continuing to fine-tune arrangements for our November triennial conference. The technologically savvy among us are working on the virtual component; keep your eye out for a series of announcements over the course of this month with more information about Whova (the app we're using for the virtual component of the conference), links to online tutorials, rehearsal sessions, and more.

We are pleased to see that many of you plan to come to Baltimore and many panels will be taking place fully in-person or in-person with one panelist presenting virtually (we call that arrangement a hybrid). As VP of Organization Maria Sanchez wrote in a recent email, "It sounds like there may be a little confusion about how hybrid panels will work. But rest assured, the conference planning committee will work with hybrid panels to make sure they know what they're doing."

If you'd like to attend the conference but haven't yet registered, you may do so here:

Here's to good health and a good fall.

With warm regards,
Sandy
